CABA

For better, for worse

Supporting families of Chartered Accountants in the UK and overseas

You don't have to be a Chartered Accountant to access help and advice from CABA.

If you are the spouse or life partner of a current or former ICAEW member you are eligible for CABA support.

Chartered Accountants' Benevolent Association (CABA) provides practical, emotional and financial support during times of need to the wives, husbands, life partners and dependant ex-spouses of current and former ICAEW members in the UK and overseas.

How we help

We understand that life throws all sorts of challenges at us but you should never feel you have to deal with them alone.

CABA will provide help in the most appropriate way, speedily and in confidence according to individual circumstances when you most need it.

We can help you manage your finances and provide advice and guidance to support your decision making.

If you are a carer, we can supply the support, assistance and information that is right for you. We provide a listening ear and can advise on healthcare issues and carer allowances.

We also provide emotional support if you have recently lost a loved one. Our 24 hour advice and counselling helpline is always there if you simply wish to talk to someone. The helpline can also offer advice on legal issues, wills and debt.

In addition, we can point you in the right direction for tax and business advice, and any work related issues.
